

Wrotesley Park

Once part of the historic Wrotesley Hall parkland on the outskirts of Wolverhampton, Wrotesley Park has been restored to its former glory.

Whilst the burial ground is close to the nearby built up area, visitors immediately feel as if they have been transported to a quiet rural woodland idyll, the sound of birds singing and the wonderfully soothing sight of flora and fauna are all around.

Various different habitats exist; open wild flower meadows visited by butterflies, shaded glades fringed with blackberry bushes, a small pond humming with resident dragonflies.

The whole area is a rich, diverse haven for wildlife, the light touch of careful but respectful management producing a peaceful and inspiring environment in which visitors can pay their respects to departed loved ones or simply reflect and contemplate. Situated off Wrotesley Park Road near Perton and less than 3 miles from Wolverhampton's city centre.

Natural Burial

If you are considering a natural burial for you or a loved one, The Natural Burial Company offers three beautiful site locations within the UK, along with personalised memorials for your plot, and professional, expert advice for you and your funeral director. We pride ourselves on working sensitively and professionally with families to assist in the process of natural burial, and can offer a wealth of information and support.

*If I should go before the rest of you, break not a flower, nor inscribe a stone,
Nor when I am gone, speak in a Sunday voice, but be the usual selves that I have known.*

Joyce Grenfell

This is one of our largest burial grounds, and is on a gentle slope in a quiet valley in one of the most attractive and historic landscapes of Leicestershire.

The brook along the northern edge of the ground already provides a valuable wildlife refuge.

Woodland with open wildflower glades is being created as the burial ground develops. Several hundred trees and shrubs have already been planted and this work will continue over the coming years, along with ongoing work to allow native species to establish themselves and mature.

Situated on Keyham Lane East, just 5 miles east of Leicester city centre.

Memorials

Many people choose a memorial tree to be planted on the grave as a living reminder to a loved one. We have a large selection of native species of trees to plant at each site, along with benches, plaques, bird and bat boxes to commission as your memorial.

Nestled in a quiet, rural location within the historic Prestwold Estate in north Leicestershire.

Woodland and hedges border the burial ground, and a meadow of primrose, cowslips and oxeye daisy has been sown along with hundreds of native trees planted. Additional trees are being planted as more graves are used, to eventually create wildlife-rich natural woodland with wildflower glades.

Situated only 2 miles east of Loughborough towards Prestwold Hall and Burton on the Wolds.
